VOL. 4. NO. 291 MONESSEN, PA., SATURDAY, JUNE 9, 1906. SIX CENTS THE WEEK

WILL WE CELEBRATE?

Many Citizens are Urging Fourth of July Celebration Similar to that of Last Year.

Many of our residents and business men are beginning to inquire as to the manner in which Monessen will celebrate the Fourth of July this year. The day is still some distance off, but is is time we were beginning to get on our thinking caps. Some of the merchants seem to favor the boat excursion plan and spending the day at Kennywood park. But this is being objected to by many on the grounds that it will take the people as well as considerable money out of the town and on this point they are right.

Last year Monessen held a very successful celebration at home. Everyone enjoyed themselves and many visitors from surrounding towns spent the day here.

This plan is certainly the most practical, those who attended last year will come again and bring their friends and and the town will in this way be greatly benefitted. Monessen surely has enough public spirited and patriotic citizens to take hold and make this year's celebration even more successful than that of last.

The time is drawing near and the matter should be given prompt attention

FRANK KILLEN IS LET GO.

At a meeting of the directors of the Belle Vernon club of the Monongahela Valley League it was decided to dispense with the services of Frank B Killen former Manager and Harvey Holmes. The work of these two men, who had been counted on to do the pitching had not been satisfactory. The ex-leaguer was not getting the work out of the team of which it was thought capable by the owners

R. J. McKean has been made manager for the present while Harvy A. Craig is the new captain Casey, a Waynesburg outcast has been added to the pitching staff

A Jewel of a Wife.

A certain Russian nobleman visiting Paris was noticed to be constantly plunged in deep sadness. He wore on his finger a very remarkable ring, large enough for a bracelet, and which extended over his hand like a buckler for the ring finger. It was of a greenish color and was traversed by red veins.

A lady, meeting him in public, ventured to say:

"You wear a very handsome ring."

"It is not a ring," he answered, "but a sepulcher.

"This jewel," he continued, "is my wife. I had the misfortune to lose her some years since in Russia. She was an Italian and dreaded the bed which awaited her after this life. I carried her body to Germany, where I was acquainted with a celebrated chemist, whom I directed to make of the body a solid substance which I could carry about with me. Eight days after he sent for me and showed me the empty coffin amid a horrid collection of instruments and alembics. The jewel was lying upon the table. He had through means of some corrosive substance reduced and compressed that which was my wife into this jewel, which shall never more leave me."

Novel Use For a Cigar.

The stout man stood puffing at an unlighted cigar, bandaged tightly with a series of rubber bands. Wrapped in this manner the cigar gave the appearance of a fractured limb fresh from the hands of a surgeon.

"I see you getting ready to ask the question," said the stout man. "You want to know what I have my cigar done up in these rubber bands for. Well, I'll tell you. It is a little trick of my own invention. I was a cigar fiend for several years, but I have now broken off the habit—haven't smoked one for several years. I am now trying to break myself of the chewing habit. This cigar, you see, gives me a dry smoke and an imitation chew at the same time. If something does not happen to it this cigar will last me two weeks. Those rubber bands keep it from falling to pieces."—New York Press.

Solomon's Great Wealth.

Solomon was not only the wisest, but the richest man the world has ever seen, says the London Tatler, though he had to keep all his relatives. He is said to have owned a fortune of £800,000,000, and David, his father, left half as much for the building of the temple. Croesus, whose name is even now a synonym for vast wealth, possessed £400,000,000, and Lucullus, famous for his dinners and his manuscripts, £120,000,000. Alexander the Great made his wars pay, for he brought back £160,000,000 from Persia. As a general rule, it was unsafe to be very rich in classical times.

Cross Purposes.

Mrs. Klubbs (severely)—I've been lying awake these three hours waiting for you to come home. Mr. Klubbs (ruefully)—Gee! And I've been staying away for three hours waiting for you to go to sleep.

A Lady Bountiful.

Tramp—Kin you give a poor feller a cold bite, mum? Housewife—Yes. On your way out you'll find some icicles on the gate.—Woman's Home Companion.

The Clever Ones.

Griggs—Some men are born great, others achieve greatness. Briggs—Yes; and others simply have the trick of making other people think they're great.

I have lived to know that the great secret of human happiness is this: Never suffer your energies to stagnate.—Adam Clark.

Power of Words.

Words have not their import from the natural power of particular combinations of characters or from the real efficacy of certain sounds, but from the consent of those who use them and arbitrarily annex certain ideas to them, which might have signified with equal propriety by any other.—Oliver Cromwell.

Pirating Foley's Honey and Tar

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. These worthless imitations have similar sounding names. Beware of them. The genuine Foley's Honey and Tar is in a yellow package. Ask for it and refuse any substitute. It is the best remedy for coughs and colds.

If any one has any doubt as to the virtue of Foley's Kidney Cure, they need only to refer to Mr. Alvin H. Stimpson, of Willimantic, Conn., who, after almost losing hope of recovery, on account of the failure of so many remedies, finally tried Foley's Kidney Cure, which he says was "just the thing" for him, as four bottles cured him completely. He is now entirely well and free from all the suffering incident to acute Kidney trouble. Sold by The Avenue Drug Store.

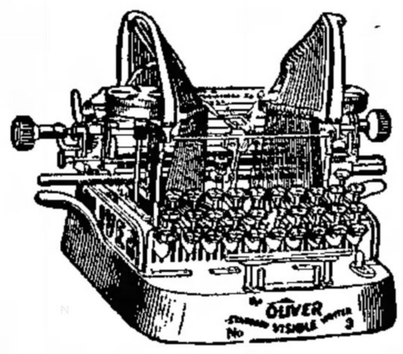
THIS TYPEWRITER DELIVERS THE GOODS

It's the Oliver—the Standard Visible Writer.

The Oliver Typewriter is just like an athletic stripped for a race.



It is free from unnecessary multiplicity of wires and springs

No net work of flimsy keys to get tied into hard knots

The nimble fingered stenographer can put talk into type with this machine just as rapidly as she takes your dictation.

For no matter how swiftly she writes, she can see just what she's doing

The keyboard is so wonderfully responsive to the touch of the finger tips that speed comes without effort.

The factors that make for speed are its visible writing, its light, elastic key-touch, and it's all 'round simplicity. It has the fewest possible wearing points, and it prints with a downward stroke.

The OLIVER Typewriter

is a flawless piece of mechanism, combining the strength of tested steel with the perfect adjustment of the works of a watch. You can use an Oliver a life time and the type will not lose alignment.

It never suffers from nervous prostration; requires only a little oil and plenty of exercise to keep it at the highest point of efficiency.

The hum of Oliver Typewriters is heard in the most progressive business houses in the land. Sales increasing at a phenomenal rate. Get acquainted with the Oliver! Write for the Oliver book—we send it free with our compliments.

A Burial at Sea

[Original]

The three masted schooner Curlew was making out of the gulf of St. Lawrence. Captain Alger was pacing the quarter deck. First Mate Strickler was for'ard directing the coiling of ropes, the polishing of brass work and the general tidying of the vessel. Two women came up the companionway aft and, spreading rugs on the deck, sat upon them with their backs against the mizzen mast. One was an elderly woman, the wife of the captain; the other, perhaps twenty-five and a very good looking person of the sailor class, was the wife of the first mate. The two women were making a cruise with their husbands. It was fine midsummer weather, which in that northern climate is very enjoyable.

Presently the captain stopped his pacing, took up a glass and fixed it on something ahead. Lowering it, he said to the women below him:

"We'll be able to give you a glimpse of an iceberg. There's one right in our course."

The elder woman looked pleased at the prospect, but the younger, never enthusiastic about anything, sat apparently unmoved. Some said there was a blight upon her caused by a love affair prior to her marriage. Whether or no this was the case, she was seldom seen to smile.

As the vessel rode on before the breeze the faint outline of the iceberg gradually became more distinct, the miniature mountain assuming the proportions of a real one, with bays, promontories, cliffs and many a roaring torrent. The two women left their corner and went to the captain on the poop, where they were soon joined by the first mate. While they were gazing young Mrs. Strickler called the captain's attention to a dark speck on the berg near the verge of a glassy plain inclining to the ocean. The captain raised his glass, but the object was too far for him to see what it was. Another mile or two was made, carrying the ship nearer to the berg. The captain again raised his glass and, this time lowering it, exclaimed:

"It's a man!"

What was it that made Mrs Strickler turn pale? None of the party noticed it or a slight tremor that ran through her, for they were intent on the iceberg. The captain gave orders to run the ship as closely as possible into an ice bay bordered by the cliff and when in the most convenient position again brought his glass to bear on the object that interested them.

The man was plainly visible. He lay on his side, his head resting in the palm of his hand, the elbow on the ice. This brought his face toward the ship. He appeared to be asleep, though the marble whiteness of his hands and face rather indicated that he was dead. He was dressed in sailor shirt and trousers over which was a pea jacket, at his throat a silk handkerchief. A few feet from him was a broken oar.

The indications were that his ship had struck the iceberg in a fog or in deep darkness, that the crew had taken to the boats and this man had succeeded in getting a foothold on the solid ice. He had climbed to a point beyond the reach of the waves and lay down to rest after the exertion. The cold had prevented him from awakening, and he had passed from slumber into death.

The captain passed the glass to the mate, with whom he had some words as to the probability of the man being alive and the chances of a rescue. They agreed that he was dead, and even if he were not a rescue was impossible without imminent risk of the ship and their lives. The mate handed the glass to Mrs. Alger, who gazed mournfully on the figure reclining on its bed of ice, then handed the telescope to Mrs. Strickler.

"No, no," said the mate's wife. "I can't; I won't."

The others did not urge her, but she surprised them by suddenly snatching up the glass and bringing it to bear on the figure.

The glass fell from her hand, and she sank unconscious on the deck.

"What is it, sweetheart?" asked her husband. He got no answer and, taking his wife in his arms, carried her below, where he presently gave her over to the care of Mrs. Alger. Then going again on deck and taking the glass for another look, he said to the captain:

"The Helena, that was missed last summer, struck this berg. That's the body of one of her crew, Tom Barton. He has been dead a year."

The captain excitedly seized the glass for another look and, gazing, said, "The ice has kept him perfectly."

"For God's sake, captain, can't we give him burial?"

The captain pondered for awhile, then roared the order forward, "Get out the gun and fill her up with a blank cartridge well rammed."

While the men were obeying the order the captain asked:

"The young fellow your wife sent away before she married you?"

"The same."

"Never got over it, I reckon."

"No," replied the mate mournfully.

The little gun, such as every ship carries on her forecastle for salutes and such purposes, having been loaded, the captain, followed by the mate, went forward, and the captain pointed the gun with his own hand at the figure on the ice. His design was to loosen the body by concussion of the air. When all was ready the lanyard was pulled. Before the reverberations came back the sleeper trembled and rolled over on his face. Then after a momentary lodgment he slid along the icy slope and dropped into the sea.

"Several years since my lungs were so badly affected that I had many hemorrhages," writes A. M. Ake, of Wood, Ind. "I took treatment with several physicians without any benefit. I then started to take Foley's Honey and Tar, and my lungs are now as sound as a bullet I recommend it in advanced stages of lung trouble." Foley's Honey and Tar stops the cough and heals the lungs, and prevents the serious results from a cold. Refuse substitutes.

A Lesson in Health

Healthy kidneys filter the impurities from the blood and unless they do this health is impossible Foley's Kidney Cure makes sound kidneys and will positively cure all forms of kidney and bladder disease. It strengthens the whole system

A man who is in perfect health, so he can do an honest day's work when necessary, has much for which he should be thankful. Mr. L. C Rodgers, of Branchton, Pa., writes that he was not only unable to work, but he couldn't stoop over to tie his own shoes. Six bottles of Foley's Kidney cure made a new man of him He says, "Success to Foley's Kidney Cure."

RENT PAYS FOR LAND.

Fertile Sections of the Southwest, Where Land Sells for $15 and Rents for $2 per Acre.

One of the remarkable things about Eastern Arkansas and Northern Louisiana is the fact that cleared land rents for $5 per acre cash, and can be bought for $7.50 to $15 per acre. It costs from $6 to $10 an acre to clear it. Other improvements necessary are slight and inexpensive.

The soil is rich alluvial, or made. It produces a bale of cotton per acre, worth $45 to $60. This accounts for its high rental value. Other crops, such as corn, small grains, grasses, vegetables and fruits, thrive as well.

Alfalfa yields 4 to 6 cuttings, a ton to a cutting, and brings $10 to $16 per ton.

In other sections of these states, and in Texas as well, the rolling or hill-land is especially adapted to stock raising and fruit growing. Land is very cheap, $5 to $10 per acre; improved farms $10, $15 to $25 per acre.

The new White River country offers many opportunities for settlers. High, rolling, fine water — it is naturally adapted to stock and fruit raising. Can be bought as low as $3 per acre.

See this great country for yourself and pick out a location. Descriptive literature, with maps, free on request.

HAPPY WOMEN.

Wouldn't any woman be happy,
After years of backache suffering,
Days of misery, nights of unrest,
The distress of urinary troubles,
To find relief and cure?
No reason why any reader
Should suffer in the face of evidence like this:

Mrs. Almira A. Jackson, of East Front St., Traverse City, Mich., says: "For twenty years I was doctoring for kidney and liver trouble, but without benefit. Just before I began using Doan's Kidney Pills I was almost paralyzed. I could hardly stand on my feet because of the numbness and lack of circulation. Had a knife been thrust into my kidneys the pain could not have been more intense. My sleep was disturbed by visions of distorted figures. The kidney secretions were annoyingly irregular, and I was tortured with thirst and always bloated. I used seven boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills. The bloating subsided until I weighed 100 pounds less, could sleep like a child and was relieved of the pain and the irregularity of the kidney action. My circulation is good and I feel better in every way."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mrs. Jackson will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists; price, 50 cents per box.

BELLE VERNON BEATS LOCALS

Lee Vaughn's Tossers Worsted in Contest Which Took Place at Glass Town Yesterday.

Belle Vernon won from Monessen yesterday afternoon at the former place by the score of 9 to 4. Bolig for Monessen and Casey for Belle Vernon, were the opposing pitchers and both pitched a creditable game but the Belle Vernonites bumped the ball hard at the proper time which accounted for their victory. Smith, of the Belle Vernon team, had four stolen bases to his credit, while Weber and Carson had two each. The score.—

A BEN HUR INITIATION.

Monessen People Rode the Goat and Enjoyed Lunch at Charleroi Thursday Night.

About twenty members — ladies and gentlemen—of the Monessen Court No. 55, Tribe of Ben Hur, made up a happy party to visit Charleroi Thursday evening to join the members at that place in special iniatory exercises and a general session of sociability.

The party departed on the 7:30 car, taking the yacht at Eight street ferry, the trip across the beautiful Monongahela between sun set and twilight furnishing a scene so beautiful and striking as to be ever remembered.

A committee met the visitors as escort to the lodge rooms, where after a brief business session for routine work, initiation of new members was in order and eight from Charleroi and four Monessenites were shown through the mysterious mazes of Ben Hurism.

Dr. Day, Mrs. D. G. Waugaman, Mrs. Swaynee and Mrs. Fox were the Monessen people to become full fledged members, joining the ranks of Monessen's already strong and aggressive court.

After iniation the Charleroi ladies served a sumptuous lunch, including all the season's delicacies and goodies, which was highly enjoyed by all; in connection, speeches, toasts and words for the "good of the order" were spoken to the enlightenment and enjoyment of members.

The entertainment committee presented each member with white carnations tied with the lodge colors, red, green and black. The Monessen delegation arrived home about midnight, highly pleased with the evening's pleasantries.
